

Student Employability and Entrepreneurship Development [SEED]

Employability Coaching Programme

The Student Entrepreneurship and Employability Development (SEED) is hosting a programme aimed at enhancing the employability skills of students at the Nelson Mandela University.

What is the Employability Coaching Programme about?

The aim of the Student Entrepreneurship and Employability Development programme is to equip Nelson Mandela University students with the necessary tools to strengthen their employability skills. The Employability Coaching Programme is a 6 month programme for where students will be guided through various topics and exercises relevant to employability development. The participants will be guided through the programme by a facilitator while being exposed to numerous professionals and experts already in the various fields of work.

Who can apply?

- Must be a registered student at the Nelson Mandela University
- Must be available to attend 80% of the employability coaching workshops
- Must have access to a device (cell phone or laptop) and connectivity as programme is fully online

What topics can you expect from the coaching workshops?

- Ethics in the workplace
- Networking skills
- Personal development planning
- Communication etiquette
- Mental health and the world of work
- Maintaining a professional brand
- Financial health

How can you apply?

Visit seed.mandela.ac.za for the application form.

Closing date for applications is Tuesday 19 April 2022.

*The Student Employability and Entrepreneurship Development programme is funded by the DHET UCDG.